

Full-time Sessional Instructor – Kinesiology and Sport Studies Augustana - Social Sciences

Competition No. - A105616455
Closing Date - Mar 02, 2012

The Augustana Faculty teaches approximately 1000 students in baccalaureate degree programs on a picturesque residential campus in the city of Camrose, 90 km southeast of Edmonton. After a long educational history, including two decades as an independent, degree-granting university college, Augustana was incorporated into the University of Alberta in July 2004. The Faculty is committed to building on its reputation for rigorous, high-quality teaching in the tradition of the liberal arts and sciences, and in doing so, providing a distinctive undergraduate academic experience for students within one of Canada's leading universities.

The Social Sciences Department at the Augustana Faculty is currently accepting applications for a full-time sessional instructor in Kinesiology and Sport Studies for the academic year 2012/2013. The successful candidate will teach two second year courses in human physiology and a third year course in exercise physiology, conduct labs in human anatomy and exercise physiology, and offer other classroom-based or physical activity courses in accord with the candidate's interests and expertise. Preference will be given to candidates with teaching experience and a PhD in Physical Education.

Application:

Applicants should provide a current curriculum vitae and a letter of application that includes a statement of research interests, a statement of teaching experience and expertise, and names of three references. For online applications, please submit this all in one document.

Salary will be commensurate with experience in accordance with the Contract Academic Staff Agreement (CAST).

Inquiries concerning the advertised position should be directed to the Chair of Social Sciences, Dr. Jeremy Mouat (jmouat@ualberta.ca). Phone: (780) 679-1633
